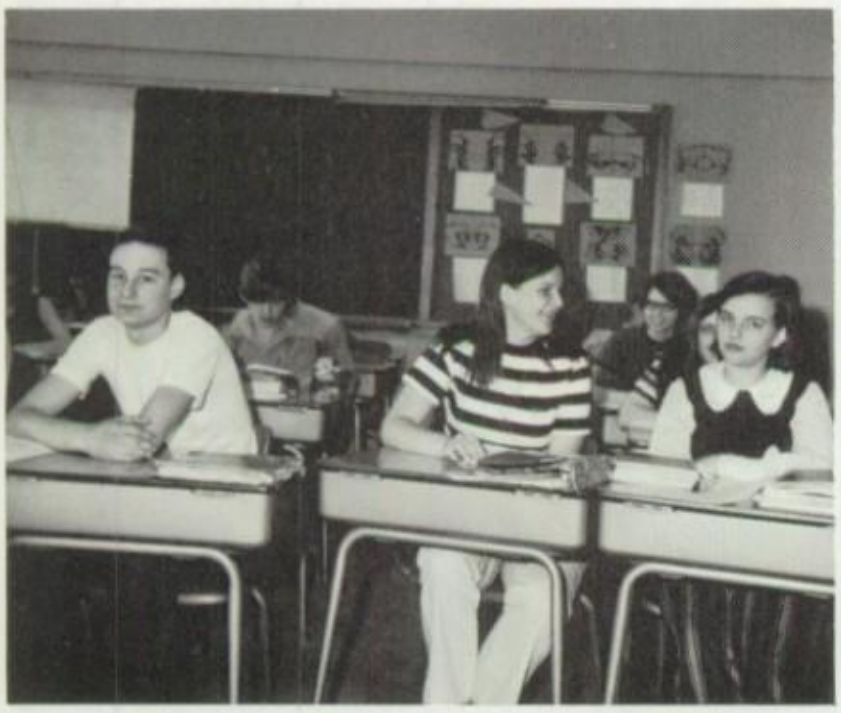
ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Mark teaches American literature, English literature, and modern literature. She is shown here with her modern literature class.

The English department is staffed with three teachers. There are basic English classes, American literature classes, English literature classes, modern literature classes, debate classes, and creative writing classes. The teachers include Mrs. Rida Barnard, Mrs. Anne Mark, and Mrs. Marcia Schulze.



Mrs. Barnard teaches sophomore English, creative writing, and debate. Here is one of her sophomore English classes. Mr. Harris also teaches a debate class.

Mrs. Schulze teaches the freshman English classes and Spanish I and II. Here she is shown with one of her freshman English classes.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

The mathematics department is staffed by two teachers, Miss Sharon Rutledge and Mr. Charles Stansbury. The classes include Algebra I and II, geometry, general math, and advanced mathematics.

Miss Rutledge teaches geometry and algebra classes. Here she is shown with Denise Maytag in her algebra class during the last few days of school.

Mr. Stansbury teaches general math, algebra, geometry, and advanced math classes. Above, he is with his senior advanced math class. Below, he is with one of his freshman math classes.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

The science department is staffed by two teachers, Mr. Larry Koepnick and Miss Sharon Rutledge. The classes which are offered include physical science, biology, chemistry, and physics.

SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

The social science department is staffed by three teachers, Mr. Dave Beane, Mr. Bert Harris, and Mr. Martin Ware. The classes include world history, American history, American government, sociology, and psychology.

Mr. Ware teaches world history and American government. His world history class contains mostly sophomores and his American government class contains seniors.

Mr. Harris teaches American government, American History, sociology, and psychology. He is pictured above with one of his American history classes.

Mr. Beane teaches American history, sociology, and psychology. His history class contains juniors, and his sociology/psychology class contains juniors and seniors.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Scurr is shown here in one of her classes. It is one of her coed classes.

The home economics department is staffed by Mrs. Janet Scurr. She teaches classes to freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. This year, boys have been accepted in the classes.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

The industrial arts department is staffed by Mr. James Willetts. He teaches freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. His classes, like the home-ec. classes, are coed. His classes are held in the bus barn.

ART DEPARTMENT

The art department is staffed by Mr. William Barnes. His classes include freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. His classes are housed in the basement of the elementary building.

LIBRARY

The library is staffed by Mrs. Dorothy McGrew. It is on the third floor. She is pictured here with one of the student library assistants, Sue Bollhoefer.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The physical education department is staffed by two teachers, Mr. Dave Beane and Mr. Martin Ware. All students are required to take a class in physical education.

Mr. Beane is supervising the long jump activities as Karen Hoeksema jumps. Danita Kinder and Linda Harris are measuring.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

The business department is staffed by Mr. Olaf Grosand. His classes include freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The classes which are offered include typing, bookkeeping, and office practice.

Mr. Grosand is pictured here with his bookkeeping class.

The Cougars enjoyed another successful summer baseball season. They finished the conference season as champs with a perfect 9-0 mark, a record unmatched in many seasons by any conference team. Playing a rugged non-conference schedule the Cougars finished with a 13-8 season. Coach Beane comments, "This year's team was champions all the way, a real fine group of young men with whom to work." Team leaders were Jack Knoll, Jeff Freeborn, and Merle Stubbs. Knoll handled the pitching chores for most of the season and was voted MVP and Co-Captain by his teammates. Jeff was the leading hitter with a .333 avg. and was also Co-Captain. Merle led the team in RBI's with 22, followed closely by Bob Elliott with 21. The season was capped off with a trip to St. Louis.

ELEMENTARY ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Doris Kvidera teaches the elementary music. Her classes occupy rooms in the Laurel elementary building and in the basement of the Gilman elementary building. Here she is shown with some of the lower elementary students.

Mrs. Rosa Craven teaches remedial reading to the Gilman and Laurel elementary grades. Here she is with two of her sixth-graders, Sally Davis and Bucky Flathers.

RECESS TIME

ONE YEAR IS FINISHED . . . . .

A year is finished. The seniors are sent out into the world and a year is subtracted from the high school period of the underclassmen. A year of life is over, but remembered.

A yearbook is also finished. This book constitutes hours of work—cropping, planning, pasting-up, copy-writing, typing, and proofreading. But it's all been worth it if it has preserved one memory for at least one person.
